Will Carry Compromise. The House conferees will go into the next conference with compromise propositions on section 8 and the Borland amendment. They will propose a broad modification of the Borland amendment and a disposal of District funds, which will retain, in part, at least, all super-fluous District revenues to District projects. The House conferees were ready

The House yesterday refused to recede from its position on the contested items in the District appropriation bill. In addition, by a vote of 47 to 38, it result to uphold the agreement of its conference committee to the Senate claim of $2,000 for Alice N. Kellar in payment of claim for condemnation proceedings, of claim for condemnation proceedings, of claim for condemnation proceedings, agreement had the effect of refusing to accept any of the contested items agreed to by the conferees.

So the entire District bill, nominally, is still in disagreement. Practically, however, there still remain only nine items in disagreement, viz. Section $\frac{1}{2}$ the burst of the House to accept the Borland amendment, the municipal and emergency hospitals, four school additions and the clause calling for the repeal of all laws and parts of laws in consistent with the provisions of the proposed District appropriation bill.

fight on the item.

The action of the House throws the entire bill back into the hands of the conferees. The Senate has not yet acted on the measure. There is little or no doubt but that the Senate will instruct its conferees to stand by their position on the items in dispute. The upshot of the whole situation unquestionably will be another report on disagreement on these items and a further request for instructions by the conferees from their respective bodies.

District, but that where the government to pay for it.

"As to what is a fair distribution here I am not prepared to say. I doubt if any one else here is able to say and sustain his position by facts. A number of years ago an agreement was made that the Federal government should pay one-half and the District one-half. I think that has been a fair agreement. We may have outgrown it. But no one is the agreement is just or not.

Urges a Commission. "I would like to see the committees charge of this matter authorize the appointment of a commission of disinterested persons to go out and make an investigation and consider what is a fair

we ascertain that and know how much of these burdens should be borne by the District and how much by the United States for the benefits which the latter
